

The NOMAD Group is at the vanguard of sustainability initiatives within the hospitality industry. Working with suppliers and contractors across the breadth of the industry we have constructed a regime that ensures our business operations achieve a net zero carbon footprint.

We continue to work with our teams, our suppliers and our contractors to refine these measures even further. The scale of the environmental industry is such that businesses providing these services are now profitable enterprises. It no longer costs the earth to save the earth.

View our environmental initiatives below:

All our venues are powered by renewable energy

Only 15% of our waste goes to landfill

All our organic waste is composted

All our cardboard, plastic, glass and metal containers are recycled

Our used cooking oil is turned into biodiesel

We filter, chill and carbonate our own water onsite

We source produce as locally as possible to reduce its carbon footprint

We source produce from ethical growers who use minimal intervention techniques

Our wine list has a strong focus on Australian

We do not use charcoal sourced from dubious origins

We cook with wood sourced from sustainable forestry industries

We are trialling a new system that reduces the amount of chemicals required for cleaning

We are currently looking at ways to reduce our reliance on single use plastics
